In the matter of an industrial dispute between Messrs. A. R. and B. Kalwar Co., 11 Nidhiram Maji Lane, P.O. Khurut, Howrah, and their workmen represented by Bus Workers' Union, 249 Bowbazar Street, Calcutta-12. (Case No. VIII-C-115/58.)

For the Union: Shri S. R. Bhattacharjee, Secretary, and Shri Ram Sev.

Government of West Bengal, Labour Department, by its order No. 2260-I.R./IR/4L-26/58, dated 3rd June 1958, referred an industrial dispute between Messrs. A. R. and B. Kalwar Co., 11 Nidhiram Maji Lane, P.O. Khurut, Howrah, and their workmen represented by Bus Workers' Union, to the Second Labour Court for adjudication regarding the issue mentioned in the order of reference.

Issue

(1) Whether the discharge of the following workmen is justified? To what relief are they entitled?

(a) Sri Birendra Nath Ghosh.
(b) Sri Abhinandan Jha.

Findings

The case of the Union, briefly stated, is as follows:—

Messrs. A. R. and B. Kalwar Co. are owners of 7 buses plying in Route Numbers 52 and 58 in Howrah. The workmen of the buses plying in those routes organised themselves under a Union for the redress of their grievances. The formation of the Union was not taken in good grace by the above Company. Shri Birendra Nath Ghose is the Secretary of the Union and Shri Abhinandan Jha is one of the active workers of the Union. They were employees of the above Company. The Company discharged Shri Birendra Nath Ghose from 19th January 1958 and Shri Abhinandan Jha from 2nd January 1958 without showing any reason. So the Union contends that their discharge is unjustified.

The Company has raised a preliminary objection that the Union which has espoused the case of the two discharged workmen is not a true representative of the workmen of the Company, that the other workmen of the Company have nothing to do with the present dispute and that as such this is not an industrial dispute. As to the merits of the case, the Company states as follows:

Sometime in November 1957 two Punjabi employees of the Company went on leave. After expiry of their leave they came to join their duties in January 1958. Shri Birendra Nath Ghosh was one of the conductors working under the Company. He represented to the management that Punjabis should not be allowed to work under this Company. The management did not agree to such a proposal. In the morning of 18th January 1958 Shri Birendra Nath Ghose lay down in front of bus No. WBU 32 belonging to the Company in which the above two Punjabi employees were engaged and thereby prevented the bus from starting from Ramrajatola bus stand at the scheduled time. On that day after finishing his duty Shri Birendra Nath Ghose came to the office of the Company at about 10 p.m. to deposit the day's collection. One of the proprietors of the Company asked his explanation for his conduct in the morning. At this Shri Birendra Nath Ghose became angry and said that he would not give any explanation. Then the above proprietor asked him to be polite. Then Shri Ghose became more angry, abused the proprietor and tried to assault him with his shoe. Some persons present at the office prevented the assault. Then the above proprietor verbally dismissed Shri Ghose on the ground of this gross misconduct. Shri Amarjit Singh, a conductor under the Company, was on leave from the latter part of November 1957 to the early part of January 1958. Shri Abhinandan Jha was taken as a substitute in the leave vacancy of Shri Amarjit Singh. Shri Amarjit Singh returned from leave and joined his post, and so the services of Shri Abhinandan Jha were automatically terminated. So the Company contends that the termination of service of the above two workmen was justified. The Company denies that it discharged them on account of their trade union activities.

Decision

The Company has not adduced any evidence in support of the preliminary objection raised by it. The lawyer of the Company has depended on the evidence of some of the witnesses of the Union for his argument that this is not an industrial dispute. Two of the witnesses on behalf of the Union have admitted that the Union of which they are now members is Howrah Zilla Bus Karmi Parisad, whereas the Union named in the order of reference is Bus Workers' Union. P.W. 1 Shri Birendra Nath Ghose has explained that he and other employees of the Company were formerly members of Howrah Branch of Bus Workers' Union and that later they formed Howrah Zilla Bus Karmi Parisad. So his evidence does not show that the employees of the Company were not members of the Bus Workers' Union or are not members of Howrah Zilla Bus Karmi Parisad. It has been argued by the lawyer of the Company that the Bus Workers' Union has no right to represent the workmen in question, as they are no longer members of that Union. But P.W. 1 says that Howrah Zilla Bus Karmi Parisad was formed in September or October 1958. The order of reference is dated 3rd June 1958. So at that time the employees of the Company were members of that Union. The Company has not been able to show that this part of the evidence of P.W. 1 is false. So I hold that the Bus Workers' Union which has espoused the cause of the two discharged workmen was a true representative of the workmen at the relevant time, i.e., at the time the dispute arose and at the time Government made the reference. It is also on evidence that a substantial number of the employees of the Company were members of that Union at the relevant time. So I hold that there is no substance in the preliminary objection raised by the Company. Hence I reject it.

The Union has examined four witnesses in support of its case., Shri Birendra Nath Ghose, P.W. 1 and Shri Nilkanta Das, P.W. 4, have stated the Union's case in respect of Shri Birendra Nath Ghosh. They say that on 18th January 1958 one of the proprietors asked Shri Birendra Nath Ghose whether he had deposited the day's collection and on the latter's reply in the affirmative the former asked him not to go to duty from the following day. They deny that Shri Birendra Nath Ghose abused the proprietor or tried to assault him. Shri Abhinandan Jha, P.W. 2, and Shri Amarjit Singh, P.W. 3, have stated the Union's case in respect of Shri Abhinandan Jha. They say that they worked together for sometime and that Shri Jha was not a substitute of Shri Amarjit Singh.

The Company has examined three witnesses in support of its case. O.P.W. 1 Shri Bijali Mukherjee who is a starter at Ramarajatola bus stand speaks of the incident in the morning of 18th January 1958. O.P.W. 2 Shri Bimal Kumar Dey says that he had gone to the office of the Company at about 10 p.m. on 18th January 1958 in order to use the telephone of that Company. He has spoken of the incident about the conduct of Shri Birendra Nath Ghose at that time. O.P.W. 3 Shri Kartick Chandra Kalwar says that he is the proprietor in question who was abused and threatened by Shri Birendra Nath Ghose. He has stated the Company's case. P.W. 4 Shri Nilkanta Das who has corroborated Shri Birendra Nath Ghose as to what took place at night on 18th January 1958, was a conductor working under the Company and has since been dismissed. So he cannot be called a disinterested witness. O.P.W. 2 Shri Bimal Kumar Dey who has spoken about the same incident is a disinterested witness. Though he is a chance witness, it appears that he has spoken the truth. O.P.W. 1 Shri Bijali Mukherjee has stated that Shri Birendra Nath Ghose obstructed the movement of the bus. Though he does not say that Shri Birendra Nath Ghose lay down in front of the bus, his evidence is clear on the point that Shri Ghose stood in front of the bus. Shri Ghose himself admits that he went to the Ramrajatola bus stand in the morning, though he had no duty in the morning of that day. So this much is clear that something happened at Ramrajatola bus stand in the morning of 18th January 1958. The evidence of P.W. 1 Shri Birendra Nath Ghose and P.W. 4 Shri Nilkanta Das that the proprietor discharged Shri Birendra Nath Ghosh at night on 18th January 1958 without any provocation is unbelievable as being improbable. So I accept the version of the Company as to what took place then. Hence I hold that Shri Birendra Nath Ghose has been guilty of gross misconduct and as such his discharge is justified. So he is not entitled to any relief.

As to Shri Abhinandan Jha, the Company has not aduced any evidence except the oral testimony of O.P.W. 3 that Shri Jha worked as a substitute in place of Shri Amarjit Singh. The case of the Company is that Shri Amarjit Singh went on leave in November 1957. O.P.W. 3 Shri Kartick Ch. Kulwar could not deny that Shri Abhinandan Jha worked under the Company prior to November 1957. O.P.W. 3 says that Shri Amarjit Singh worked under the Company for training for about 6 months before going on leave in November 1957. When Shri Amarjit Singh was on training before going on leave, there can be no question of appointing a substitute in his place. On the other hand the evidence of Shri Abhinandan Jha and of Shri Amarjit Singh is that the latter worked as an assistant to the former in the same bus for sometime. This evidence fits in with the evidence of O.P.W. 3 that Shri Amarjit Singh was under training. So I hold that the contention of the Company that Shri Abhinandan Jha worked as a substitute in place of Shri Amarjit Singh is untenable. As the Company has not shown any other reason for the discharge of Shri Abhinandan Jha, I hold that his discharge is unjustified. Hence I order that he be reinstated in the post of a conductor in which he was working. It appears from the evidence that he was employed elsewhere for a considerable period after being discharged by the above Company. It also appears from evidence that he was a daily-rated worker under the Company. So I order that he be paid compensation equal to his wages for 150 days. The above order shall take effect within a month of the publication of the award in the "Calcutta Gazette".

AWARD

1. By Government order No. 5033-I.R./IR/7L-38/57, dated the 22nd October 1959, the above industrial dispute was referred to this Tribunal under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act for adjudication of only one issue, viz.—

(1) What compensation and/or relief, if any, are the workmen of Messrs. Victory Jute Products Ltd., who have been discharged as a result of closure of the Mill on 31st March 1957 entitled to?

2. The employer, Messrs. Victory Jute Products Ltd , to be hereinafter referred to as the Company, was a unit of M. M. Ispahani Ltd., Managing Agents, owning a jute mill at Garden Reach, Calcutta and engaged in the business of jute manufacture. The Company closed down the mill on 31st March 1957 and the present dispute has arisen out of that closure as the Company did not pay any retrenchment compensation to the workmen affected thereby. After the closure the workmen moved the Government and submitted their claims for retrenchment compensation to the Labour Commissioner and thereafter on 16th January 1958 the Government directed the First Labour Court to determine under section 33C(2) of the Industrial Disputes Act the amounts due to workmen by way of retrenchment compensation. Several applications for compensation were filed by the workmen before the First Labour Court, but that Court took the view that the provisions of section 33C(2) did not apply to the matter and that the applications were not maintainable. This order was passed on 6th February 1959 and thereafter the present reference was made by the Government.

3. There are two Unions representing the workmen in this case and they have filed separate written statements. To the written statement of Victory Jute Products Employees' Association is appended a list of 1,998 workmen on whose behalf claims have been made for retrenchment compensation and the amount claimed for each workman has been shown against his name together with the period of service rendered by him. In the written statement filed by the Chatkal Mazdoor Union it has been stated that 1,700 workmen were affected by the closure but no additional list of workmen has been filed by the said Union. The case of the Unions is that the closure of the mill was mala fide and that the workmen were entitled to retrenchment compensation according to the provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act.

4. The Company has taken certain preliminary objections to the reference which will be referred to hereafter and has pleaded that the mill had to be closed bona fide for reasons beyond the control of the management and that no retrenchment compensation was payable under the law as it stood on the date of the closure. The Company has further stated that it has no assets and that the managing agents have no legal liability for the workmen's claims.

5. At the hearing of the case, neither party adduced any oral evidence but certain documents were produced by the parties and they were marked as exhibits. On the final date of hearing a wage chart of the workmen (Ext. B) was submitted by the Company and the representatives of the two Unions intimated to the Tribunal that they accepted the wages mentioned in this chart as correct. Shri P. R. Mukherjee, representing the Company, also intimated that the Company accepted the periods of service mentioned in the list of workmen filed by the Unions (Ext. C) as correct. Both parties agreed that if any compensation was payable to the workmen, calculations should be made on the basis of the wages mentioned in the Company's chart and the periods of service mentioned in the Unions' list. The hearing was confined to arguments advanced by Shri P. R. Mukherjee on the preliminary objections taken by the Company and Unions' replies thereto. I shall now deal with these preliminary objections.

6. The first objection taken by Shri Mukherjee is that this reference is not maintainable because the dispute referred cannot be deemed to be an industrial dispute, the industry being a dead industry, and reliance is placed in this behalf on the decision of the Supreme Court in the case of Pipraich Sugar Mills Ltd. reported in 1957 (I) L.L.J., page 235. In the said case the Supreme Court held that where the employer has closed his business and the closure is real and bona fide, any dispute arising with reference thereto would be outside the purview of the Industrial Disputes Act, because the provisions of the said Act apply only to a dispute which arises out of an existing industry, the sine qua non of the dispute being that the right which is the subject-matter of the dispute must accrue while the industry was in existence. The same view was reiterated by the Supreme Court in the case of Barsi Light Railway Company Ltd., reported in 1957 (I) L.L.J., page 243. In these cases the dispute arose out of the claims of the workmen for retrenchment compensation under section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act after the business had been closed on transfer. The definition of retrenchment in section 2(oo) of the Industrial Disputes Act was also considered in these cases and it was held that retrenchment connotes in its ordinary acceptation that the business itself is being continued but that a portion of the labour force is discharged as surplusage and that the definition, though very wide, did not cover termination of services of all the workmen on a bona fide closure of the whole business.

7. The decision in Barsi Light Railway Company's case was given on 27th November 1956 and thereafter on 27th April 1957 the President promulgated an Ordinance called the Industrial Disputes (Amendment) Ordinance, 1957, for amending the Industrial Disputes Act by which section 25FF was amended and a new section 25FFF was introduced into the Act and the amendment was given retrospective effect from 1st December 1956. The new section 25FFF provides:

> (1) Where an undertaking is closed down for any reason whatsoever, every workman who has been in continuous service for not less than one year in that undertaking immediately before such closure shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (2), be entitled to notice and compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 25F, as if the workman had been retrenched:
> Provided that where the undertaking is closed down on account of unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the employer, the total compensation to be paid to the workman shall not exceed his average pay for three months.

Sub-section (2) of the section is not relevant for our purpose and so it is not quoted.

8. Subsequently on 6th June 1957 the Industrial Disputes (Amendment) Act No. 18 of 1957 was passed by section 3 of which the Ordinance was repealed but the amendments made by the Ordinance were retained with the addition of an Explanation to the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 25FFF which is in these words:

> An undertaking which is closed down by reason merely of financial difficulties (including financial losses) or accumulation of undisposed of stocks shall not be deemed to have been closed down on account of unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the employer within the meaning of the proviso to this sub-section.

Section 3 of this Act, i.e., the new section 25FFF with the Explanation as well as the amended section 25FF was given retrospective effect from 28th November 1956, i.e., the day after the date on which the decision of the Supreme Court was given in the case of Barsi Light Railway Company Ltd.

9. This amendment of the Industrial Disputes Act with the introduction of section 25FFF which, in view of the retrospective effect given to it, is applicable to the present case, the closure having taken place on 31st March 1957, has changed the law and affected the decisions of the Supreme Court in the above cases. Since section 25FFF provides that on the closure of an undertaking the workmen shall be entitled to notice and compensation in accordance with the provisions of section 25F, as if the workmen had been retrenched, it can no longer be contended that the claim for such compensation on the closure of an undertaking is not an industrial dispute. It was, however, argued that since the definition of retrenchment in section 2(oo) of the Act had not been amended the decision of the Supreme Court that the ordinary accepted meaning of "retrenchment" did not cover the discharge of all the employees of an undertaking on account of bona fide closure was still valid. This argument cannot be accepted because section 25FFF lays down that on closure the workmen affected should be deemed to have been retrenched and this must be taken to have artificially extended the definition of retrenchment to cover a case of closure also. This was also the view taken by the Punjab High Court in the case of Maharaj Weaving Mills versus State of Punjab, reported in 1958-II-L.L.J. 625. It was held in this case that section 25FFF was obviously designed to bring a workman affected by closure of an undertaking within the definition of "retrenchment" and that the artificial definition of the word "retrenchment" had the effect of artificially prolonging the life of the undertaking or had the effect of making the machinery provided under the Act available for working out the right to compensation of such workman. It was further held that though the amendment did not specifically provide for reference of such a dispute to a Tribunal as an industrial dispute, this was implicit in the amendment. The Kerala High Court also took a similar view of the amendment in the case of Ravikrishna Weaving Mills versus State of Kerala reported in 1959-II-L.L.J. 760.

10. It was next argued that this was a matter in which section 33C of the Industrial Disputes Act was the only section applicable under which Government could have taken action and that since the Government had taken action under that section and sent the matter to the Labour Court for determination of the amounts due to the workmen under sub-section (2) of the section, the Government had exhausted its power under the Industrial Disputes Act and could not again refer the matter to the Tribunal for adjudication. Reference was made in this connection to the decision of the Madras High Court in the case of South Arcot Electricity Distribution Company Ltd. versus Elumalai reported in 1959-I-L.L.J. 624. In this case the Government of Madras had taken over the undertaking of the Company and transferred it to the Madras State Electricity Board and the workmen of the Company had claimed retrenchment compensation and certain other benefits by petitions filed before the Labour Court, Madras, under section 33C of the Industrial Disputes Act. Overruling the contentions of the Government and the State Electricity Board the High Court held that the Labour Court had jurisdiction to entertain the petitions and determine the claims of the workmen under sub-section (2) of section 33C. On the authority of this decision it has been contended that the Labour Court to which this matter had been referred by Government had no justification to refuse to determine the claims of the workmen and that the matter has been concluded by the order passed by the Labour Court. It has also been contended that no fresh industrial dispute had been raised by the workmen after the decision of the Labour Court which could have been referred by the Government under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act.

11. A certified copy of the order passed by the First Labour Court together with a copy of the written statement filed by the Company before that Court has been produced before me (Exts. 1 and 2). In the written statement the Company had challanged the jurisdiction of the Labour Court to decide the matter under section 33C(2) of the Act and stated that the said sub-section was not attracted by the facts of the case. It appears from the order passed by the Labour Court that the Company had further contended that the workmen should have raised an industrial dispute and the same should have been referred by the Government under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act to a Tribunal. All the contentions were upheld by the Labour Court and it was also held that determination of the amounts due to the workmen involved decision of several questions and among others of the question whether the closure was justified and due to circumstances beyond the control of the Company and that these questions really formed the subject-matter of an industrial dispute. Whatever view may be taken about the order passed by the Labour Court I do not find any justification for the contention that after the matter had been disposed of by the Labour Court the Government had no further power to refer the dispute to a Tribunal under section 10 of the Act. As to the argument that no dispute had been raised by the workmen after the decision of the Labour Court it is sufficient to refer to Ext. 4 which is a copy of a letter written on behalf of the Union to the Labour Commissioner on 31st March 1959 in which it was mentioned that an industrial dispute existed between the Company and its workmen over the payment of retrenchment compensation and after referring to the order passed by the Labour Court it was prayed that the dispute might be referred to a Tribunal under section 10 of the Act. The issue to be referred to the Tribunal was also specified in this letter. As already pointed out, a claim for retrenchment compensation on closure under section 25FFF was certainly an industrial dispute and the power of the Government to refer such dispute under section 10 was implicit in the section. The Company itself had urged before the Labour Court that the matter constituted an industrial dispute which should have been referred under section 10. The mere fact that the Government thought it fit at the first instance to refer the matter to the Labour Court under section 33C(2) of the Act cannot stand in the way of a subsequent reference of the dispute to a Tribunal when the Labour Court took the view that section 33C(2) was not attracted to the facts of the case. There was no question of the exhaustion of the Government's power to make a reference under section 10 when no such reference had been made by the Government before the present reference. It was argued that the decision of the Labour Court should have the force of res judicata. But the Labour Court did not make any award or give any decision on the merits but only held that it had no justification to do so and that it did on the objection of the Company which is now taking up a contrary position. I do not think that it can be permitted to do so. Therefore no question of applying the principle laid down by the Supreme Court in the case of Burn & Co., 1957-I-L.L.J. 226, which was relied upon by Shri P. R. Mukherjee can arise in this case.

12. It is, therefore, clear that the Government had the power to refer the dispute to the Tribunal under section 10 of the Industrial Disputes Act. So far as the facts are concerned the closure of the mill on 31st March 1957 is admitted and the bona fide nature of the closure was not disputed at the hearing. The workmen discharged as a result of the closure will, therefore, be entitled to retrenchment compensation under section 25FFF which having been given retrospective effect from 28th November 1956 would be applicable to this case. With regard to the quantum of such compensation it was argued on behalf of the Company that the workmen could only claim such compensation up to a limit of three months' average pay under the proviso to sub-section (1) of the said section, because, the mill had been closed down on account of unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the Company. But the notice of closure (Ext. A) does not show that there were any unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the Company, which led to the closure. The only reason mentioned in the notice is that the mill was being worked at a heavy loss and that continuance of running of the mill would result in further serious loss. Under the Explanation to the aforesaid proviso financial losses or other financial difficulties cannot be deemed to be unavoidable circumfstances beyond the control of the employer within the meaning of the proviso.

13. It was, however, argued that the above Explanation would not apply here but that the case should be governed by the section as in the Ordinance which did not contain the Explanation. The Company, it was contended, had acquired the right or privilege of having this claim decided on the basis of the terms of section 25FFF as in the Ordinance and though the subsequent Amending Act (18 of 1957) repealed the Ordinance, the repeal did not affect the right or privilege so acquired by the Company in view of the provisions of section 6(c) of the General Clauses Act (X of 1897). But can it really be said that the absence of the Explanation in the Ordinance had conferred a substantive right or privilege on the Company which the Company was entitled to claim? The Explanation only prescribed a mode of interpretation of the expression "unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the employer" used in the proviso. The Company did not certainly acquire the right of paying retrenchment compensation up to a limit of three months' average pay to the discharged workmen simply because of the absence of this Interpretation clause in the Ordinance. The question whether the mill had to be closed for unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the Company is a question of fact which the Company will have to establish in order to get the benefit of the proviso. The notice issued by the Company did not mention that the mill had to be closed for any such circumstances beyond its control. It cannot be contended that the language of the proviso without the Explanation conferred on the Company the right to claim that financial losses alleged in the notice constituted unavoidable circumstances beyond the control of the Company. Losses in business cannot be deemed to be unavoidable or beyond control because such losses can be avoided by proper and prudent management, by intelligent anticipation of business prospects, by reducing expenditure and in various other ways. No evidence has been given by the Company that the losses incurred or anticipated as mentioned in the notice of closure were unavoidable or beyond its control. Thus, even apart from the explanation the Company has not been able to show that the claims for retrenchment compensation should be confined in this case to only three months' average pay of the workmen concerned.

14. I hold accordingly that the 1,398 workmen affected by the closure whose names are mentioned in Annexure A appended to the written statement of the Victory Jute Products Employees' Association are entitled to compensation from the Company under section 25FFF of the Industrial Disputes Act. They will get notice-pay, i.e., one month's pay in lieu of notice and compensation depending on the length of their service as provided in section 25F of the Act. The length of service of each workman as mentioned in Ext. 6, having been accepted as correct by the Company and the pay of each workman, shown in the Company's chart, Ext. C, having been accepted as correct by the Unions, the compensation payable to each should be calculated on the basis of the said documents. The Company should pay the amount due to each workman within three months from the date of publication of this award.

FINDINGS

Issues Nos. 4, 5 and 6

There are altogether six issues under the present reference, of which the Union did not press for adjudication upon issue Nos. 4 and 5, in paragraph 8(d) and (e) of its written statement filed on 8th December 1959. Issue No. 4 relates to the question whether the clerical and supervisory staff employed under this Company are entitled to any overtime wages and if so, what that rate of wages should be. Issue No. 5 relates to leave and holidays for clerical and supervisory staff. These two issues are not, therefore, pressed for adjudication by the Union in its written statement and were not pressed for adjudication at the time of hearing also. Issue No. 6 relates to dismissal of two of the employees, namely, Shri Amarendra Nath Singha and Shri Subimal Chakravarty. At the time of hearing the Union did not press for adjudication of this issue also. As such these three issues, namely, issues Nos. 4, 5 and 6 of the reference do not call for any adjudication by this tribunal. These are left out of consideration. These issues are accordingly disposed of.

Issue No. 2: Revision of wages, scales, grades and dearness allowance.

So far as this issue is concerned, the demands of the Union relate to the manual workers only and not to clerical or supervisory staff. It is why the Union has not pressed before this tribunal for adjudication of the issues Nos. 4, 5 and 6 which concerned the clerical and supervisory staff.

It is also an admitted fact that the grades and scales of pay for manual workers employed under Messrs. Kusumika Iron Works Private Ltd. were fixed for the first time with effect from 1st March 1956 by the award of the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal in its award, dated 27th February 1956 in a dispute between Messrs. Kusumika Iron Works Ltd. and its workmen represented by the Engineering Mazdoor Sabha, Howrah, and that the grades and scales of pay and categorisation of such workmen as allowed in the aforesaid award are still in existence and in operation. It is not disputed that the present Company was a party to the First Omnibus Engineering Award of 1948 and Second Omnibus Engineering Award of 1950. Thus the grades and scales of pay fixed for manual workers of the present Company as per award of the Labour Appellate Tribunal are not below the minimum fixed for the unskilled and semi-skilled workmen by the aforesaid two engineering awards. It is further admitted that the dearness allowance is being paid to the workmen of the present Company according to the scale laid down in the Second Engineering Award of 1950.

In the award of the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal, dated 27th February 1956, the grades, scales of pay and categorisation of the manual workers employed under the present Company were fixed in the following manner:—

Grade.	Description.	Minimum rate per day.	Rate of annual increment.	Maximum rate per day.
		Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.	Rs. a. p.
I	Unskilled Labour ..	1 2 6	Nil	Nil
II	Unskilled Labour whose duties bring them into frequent and close contact with skilled or semi-skilled Labour ..	1 2 6	0 1 0	1 5 6
III	Semi skilled workmen	1 6 6	0 1 6	1 14 0
IV	Skilled ..	1 15 0	0 2 0	2 9 0
V	Highly skilled ..	2 10 0	0 2 6	3 4 0

On the above chart it will be clear that the manual workmen of the present Company were divided into five categories, namely, unskilled labour drawing minimum pay at the rate of Rs. 1-2-6p. per day without any scale. The second grade is composed of unskilled labourers whose duties bring them into frequent contact with skilled or semi-skilled labourer. Grade III relates to semi-skilled workmen, grade IV to skilled and grade V to highly skilled. For the grades II to V, scale of pay with annual increments was fixed. So far as the unskilled labour is concerned the minimum basic wage fixed works out to be Rs. 30 per month as fixed under the First Engineering Award and so far as the grade III is concerned the minimum basic wage of a semi-skilled workman was fixed at Rs. 36-9 per month which is higher than the minimum fixed for such workmen in the First and Second Engineering Tribunals. So far as grades IV and V, i.e., for skilled and highly skilled workmen fixed under the aforesaid Labour Appellate Tribunal's Award are concerned the minimum fixed for these two categories of workmen is indeed below the minimum basic wage fixed under the Third Engineering Tribunal of 1958. The dearness allowance, as I have already stated, is being paid to these workmen according to the scale laid down in the Second Engineering Tribunal Award of 1950.

All that the Union claims with regard to issue No. 2 under reference is that there has been a material change of circumstances and that the existing wages, grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance are too inadequate and that these may be revised in the line of 3rd Engineering Award of 1958 [vide paragraph 8(b) of the written statement of the Union].

To this claim of the Union regarding issue No. 2 the objection of the Company is two-fold. The first objection is that the wages, grades and scales of pay for the manual workers of this Company were fixed by the award of the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal as recently as in 1956 and that the said award has been implemented and is still in operation and has not been terminated by a notice by the Union as required under section 19(6) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947 and that as such the Union cannot ask for revision of the wages, scales and grades of pay. The legal position of the objection as raised on behalf of the Company cannot be challenged. As it has been observed by His Lordship in National Carbon Co. (India) Ltd. reported in 1958 L.L.J. Vol. I, page 472, the Industrial Disputes Act is based on the principle of industrial harmony and its chief object is to maintain that harmony. So far as the present case is concerned it is an admitted fact that the grades and scales of pay fixed by the Labour Appellate Tribunal's Award are still in operation and that the said award has not been terminated by the Union by any notice required under section 19(6) of the Industrial Disputes Act. At the same time it is not disputed that the Union being dissatisfied with the grades and scales fixed by the aforesaid award and agitating for revision of the same submitted a charter of demands to that effect on 2nd September 1958 (vide Annexure A to the written statement of the Union). In reply to the said charter of demand the Company wrote the letter, dated 30th September 1958, which is Annexure B to the said written statement. From these two documents it will appear that the Union as early as in September 1958 clearly made it known to the Company that the workmen were not satisfied with the grades and scales fixed by the learned Labour Appellate Tribunal and that they wanted revision of the same and that the Company merely pointed out that there was no justification for disturbing the said award. In the circumstances I cannot but hold that the submission of charter of demand on 2nd September 1958 by the Union putting forth a case for revision of the wages, grades and scales fixed by the Appellate Tribunal's Award of 1956 should be construed as a notice in writing contemplated under section 19(6) of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, on the part of the Union to terminate the aforesaid award. As such, in my opinion, there is no legal bar to the adjudication of the question of revision of existing wages, grades and scales of pay and dearness allowance by this tribunal. In the aforesaid circumstances the requirement of a notice under section 19(6) of the Industrial Disputes Act has been substantially complied with by submission of charter of demands. So, the legal objection raised by the Company fails as of no substance.

The second objection raised by the Company to the claim of the Union relating to issue No. 2 is one on merits. According to the Company the grades, scales and wages fixed by the Labour Appellate Tribunal's Award of 1956 for the manual workers of this Company are fair and reasonable, that most of the workmen have since reached the maximum and are being upgraded and thirdly that the Company's financial position is not so sound as to bear the additional burden of any higher wages and scales of pay. But the Company has been good enough to concede that so far as the claim regarding dearness allowance is concerned, it should be revised having regard to the rise in the cost of living index. At the same time the Company claims that the dearness allowance should not be given according to the scales of dearness allowance fixed by the Third Engineering Tribunal of 1958 as that would be a heavy burden for the Company to bear.

I have carefully considered the submissions made in behalf of the Union and on behalf of the Company regarding issue No. 2. The evidence adduced in the present case does not make out any change of circumstances for revision of wages, grades and scales of pay for manual workers as fixed by the award of the Labour Appellate Tribunal, dated 27th February 1956, which has been implemented since 1st March 1956. The Company's financial position does not appear to have improved better than what it was since 1956. The Company has, of course, earned profits during these years but it has paid bonus to its workmen equivalent to two months' basic wages every year and this is an admitted fact. The categorisation of workmen as made in the Appellate Tribunal's Award is quite fair and reasonable and is in line with categorisation of workmen in the industries of similar nature. In its evidence the Union has sought to say that there is no separate grade for the mistries over and above the existing classifications. But I do not think that any separate grade for mistries should be made inasmuch as they will fall in any of the five grades fixed by the learned Labour Appellate Tribunal. It has been argued that while fitting the manual workers into the different grades fixed by the award of 1956 only existing wages were taken into consideration and no job evaluation. It is admitted on the side of the Company that job evaluation was not possible and that only existing wages were taken into consideration in fitting the workmen into the grades. Still the evidence of D.W.1 Shri B. C. Mukherji, the Engineer and Assistant Manager of the Company, is to the effect that there is no such case of workman who though highly skilled has been fitted in a scale which is lower than that of such a workman. Moreover it is an admitted fact that from time to time promotions are given from unskilled to semi-skilled and from skilled to highly skilled. Therefore, in my opinion, the existing grades and categorisation are quite just and reasonable and these would not prejudice the manual workmen in any manner.

So far as the revision of scales and wages is concerned upon the evidence on record, I cannot persuade myself to grant any further relief to the workmen as claimed by them. It is an admitted fact that the present Company employs about 200 workmen of which the number of manual workers does not exceed 136. In the Third Engineering Tribunal the bigger industries were involved, namely, Engineering concerns employing 250 or more workmen. So, the wages and scales of pay (including minimum and maximum) cannot be claimed by the workmen of the present concern which is a smaller engineering firm with smaller profits. The main business of the present Company, as said by D.W.1, is of structural steel work of ordinary type of light and medium weight and that the Company cannot manufacture a piece weighing more than 3 to 4 tons having regard to the capacity of the crane and the yard position.

The Union, as I have already stated, claims that the wages and scales of pay for the manual workers of this Company should be revised in the light of those fixed for such categories of workmen by the Third Engineering Tribunal of 1958. So far as the existing scale of wages for unskilled workmen is concerned it is not much below the scale of unskilled workmen fixed by the Third Engineering Tribunal Award. So far as the semi-skilled workmen are concerned, the scale fixed in the Third Engineering Tribunal Award is Rs. 40—1.25—65 (20 years); whereas in the present Company the minimum basic wage for an unskilled workman is Rs. 36-9 per month and the maximum is Rs. 48-12 and the rate of annual increment is Rs. 2-7 which is much higher than the rate of annual increment for semi-skilled workmen in the Third Engineering Tribunal Award. Furthermore the maximum is reached in the present case by about 5 years. With regard to the skilled workmen the minimum and maximum are much lower than that of skilled workmen in the Third Engineering Tribunal Award. The rate of increment per year is higher than that in the present case. The same is my answer with regard to the highly skilled workmen of this Company in relation to those in the Third Engineering Award. As it has already been observed, bigger industries were involved in the Third Engineering Award and the grades and scales fixed in that award cannot be applied to the workmen of the present Company having regard to the nature and financial capacity of the present industrial concern as well as to the fact that there has been no change of circumstances since the implementation of the award of 1956 for revision of wages and scales of pay for better.

In consideration of these facts and circumstances I think that the existing grades, wages and scales of pay for the manual workmen of the present Company should continue and should not be revised till Company financially improves to a greater extent. As such the wages, grades and scales of the manual workmen of the present Company are not revised.

As regards the claim of dearness allowance I feel that it should be in line with the scale of dearness allowance allowed by the Third Engineering Tribunal of 1958 having regard to the fact that there has been further rise in the cost of living since 1950 when the dearness allowance was fixed for industrial workmen by the Second Engineering Tribunal and even since 1958. So, the scale of dearness allowance for the manual workmen of this Company shall be in line with the scale of dearness allowance as fixed by the Third Engineering Tribunal of 1958 and the Company must give effect to this increased dearness allowance with effect from 1st July 1960. This increased rate of dearness allowance would throw upon the Company an additional financial burden of Rs. 1,000 per month more or less and from the evidence on regard I am satisfied that the Company will be well able to bear this burden.

To summarise my findings on issue No. 2 I repeat that existing wages and grades and scales for the manual workmen of this Company shall continue till better days are seen by the Company and are not revised in the present reference. The existing dearness allowance of the manual workmen of this Company is raised to the scale of dearness allowance fixed by the Third Engineering Award of 1958 and this rate of dearness allowance shall come into effect from 1st July 1960. Issue No. 2 is thus disposed of.

Issue No. 1: Revision of Production Bonus Scheme

It is not disputed that this Company has a production bonus scheme since the year 1952 and that after that target fixed for earning bonus was modified from time to time till it was finally fixed by an agreement dated 27th July 1956 between the parties and that same bonus scheme is still in operation. Ext. 5 is the existing bonus scheme. The agreement by which the existing bonus scheme was settled by tripartite agreement on 27th July 1956 is Ext. E/5. From this document (Ext. E/5) it will be clear that the target is fixed at 1,400 tons per year and the rate per ton is fixed in the following manner:—

Annual production		Rate per ton Rs.
Below 1,400 tons	..	Nil
1,400 tons and over	...	4
1,500 tons and over	...	5
1,600 tons and over	...	6
1,700 tons and over	...	7
1,800 tons and over	...	8

The grievance of the Union is that this target is too high and it should be reduced to 1,000 tons per year and further that the per capita production target is also higher and that it should be revised on the basis of the per capita output and that there should be some arrangement for checking the exact measurement. Union further claims that the workmen would be given a share on the sale of rejection. To this the objection of the Company in the first place is that bonus scheme cannot be revised in view of the fact that it was settled by a tripartite agreement dated 27th July 1956 which is still in force and has not been terminated by a notice in the Industrial Disputes Act. To this my answer will be two-fold. In the first place the charter of demands given by the Union for revision of the target should be treated as a notice to terminate the agreement and secondly in the agreement Ext. E(5) itself the production bonus scheme as agreed upon was to remain in force only for the year 1956. So there is no legal bar to the consideration of the possibility or desirability of revision of this production bonus scheme as agreed upon by the parties in the year 1956. So far as the target of 1,400 tons per year is concerned I must say that this target is not high in view of the fact that according to P.W. 1 Shri Sankar Nath Mukherji, one of the workmen, the production was up to the figure of 1,400 tons before last two years. The scheme was at first based upon the figure of 1,625 tons per year which was lowered down to 1,400 tons per year by the agreement of 1956. The workmen got production bonus in 1956 and in 1957. But they did not get any production bonus in the year 1958 and 1959. This was due to the fact that there was shortage of raw materials and the production fell from 1,430 tons in 1957 to 878 tons in 1958 and 922 tons in 1959. The Company had ultimately to lay off all workmen by rotation between 27th February 1959 and 30th February 1959 (vide evidence of D.W.1 and Ext. E/1). From the document Ext. E/1 it is further clear that in 1957 the workmen would produce annually 1,430 tons, i.e., 30 tons above the target of 1,400 tons while in 1956 the annual output was 1,566 tons. The evidence of P.W.1 shows that throughout the year the work of the factory was smoothly done to the satisfaction of all. There is no evidence on the side of the Union to show that the target of 1,400 tons per year as fixed by the agreement of 1956 and which is admittedly still in operation works to the prejudice of the department of the manual workmen and that this target is impossible to be reached even if the workmen put forth their requisite energy and skill into production. In fact, the target was exceeded in 1956 and 1957. In the circumstances, I find no justification for bringing down the target from 1,400 tons per year as fixed by mutual agreement of 1956 to 1,000 tons per year as prayed for by the Union before this tribunal.

Secondly, the Union has furnished a production bonus scheme of a bigger concern, namely, Bridge & Roof Co. (India) Ltd. (vide Ext. 6) which cannot be taken as a comparable unit. There the output tonnage is much higher than that of the present Company and the rate per ton is not higher. According to the existing bonus scheme of the present Company the rate per ton is Rs. 5 if the annual production reaches between 1,500 tons to 1,599 tons and the rate increases by Re. 1 per 100 tons as it goes on. The total number of workmen employed under the scheme is 180 (vide Ext. 5); whereas the total number of workmen employed in the production scheme of Messrs. Bridge & Roof Co. (India) Ltd. is about 900 (vide Ext. 6). In Bridge & Roof Co. if the output is 6,000 tons per year the rate per ton is Rs. 19; Whereas in the scheme of the present Company if the annual output is 1,500 tons the rate is Rs. 5. The rate per ton or per capita output compared with the financial capacity and man-power of the two companies as per Exts. 5 and 6 does not appreciably vary. Therefore, in my view, the existing production bonus scheme is fair and reasonable and that it shall continue and it does not call for any revision.

Lastly, another grievance of the Union is that in calculating the production bonus the workmen should be given a share of rejection or wastage. To this the answer of the Company is that rejection or wastage of materials cannot form a part of the production scheme to call for an additional return for the workmen. The scheme as per Ext. 5 shows that the annual production will be the total tonnage of fabricated steel work despatched out of date from January to December, last tonnage of steel work lying after production completed in all respects awaiting despatch on 31st December and the last tonnage of fabricated steel work lying at from previous 31st December. The evidence of D.W.1 is to the effect that the casting of raw materials including certain percentage of fabricated wastage which can be calculated at 2½ per cent. of the total cost of the raw materials. Therefore, the workmen cannot legitimately claim an additional share in the rejection or wastage as the tonnage is calculated upon the finished products, the cost of which is determined after taking into consideration the wastage which is generally calculated at 2½ per cent. of the total calculation of wastage.

Having regard to all these facts and circumstances disclosed in evidence I find that the Union has failed to make out any case for revision of the existing production bonus scheme which is in operation in this Company as per mutual agreement (Ext. E/5) and which does not appear to me to be unfair and unreasonable or prejudicial to the interest of the workmen. So, this issue is decided against the Union.

Issue No. 3: Bonus for the year 1365 B.S.

It is not disputed that the financial year of the present Company is according to Bengali calender, i.e., from Baisakh to Chaitra. So the bonus for the year 1365 B.S. is corresponding to the year 1958-59 of the English calender. The bonus for the year 1359 B.S., i.e., for the year 1952-53 was referred for adjudication and two months' basic wages awarded by this Industrial Tribunal in 1954 was confirmed by the Labour Appellate Tribunal on appeal in 1956. Since then bonus was paid for subsequent years on the basis of the agreement reached between the parties on 27th July 1956 (Ext. E/5). According to that agreement two months' basic wages were paid as bonus every year from 1359 to 1364 B.S. It is not disputed that the Company also paid two months' basic wages as bonus to its workmen for the year 1365 B.S. payable in 1366 B.S. The Union's case is that Company's profits have since much increased and, therefore, the Company is able to pay additional bonus equivalent to one month's wages over and above usual bonus for two months' basic wages and that this may be paid to the workmen of this Company for the year 1365 B.S. To this the Company's reply is that the trading results for the year 1365 B.S. do not disclose any available surplus to be distributed as additional bonus after meeting all the prior charges allowed by the Full Bench Formula for bonus calculation and that, therefore, the claim for additional bonus for one month's wages over and above two month's basic wages as already paid in the year 1365 B.S. is misconceived and cannot be allowed.

It is now well-settled principle that payment of profit bonus must depend upon the available surplus to be calculated according to the Full Bench Formula enunciated by the Labour Appellate Tribunal in Mill Owners' Association, Bombay vs. Rashtriya Mill Mazdoor Sangha (1950 II L.L.J., page 1247) as explained and clarified by the decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Associated Cement Company (Reported in 1952 L.L.J., Vol. I, page 644) and other subsequent decisions.

Both parties have submitted their calculations for available surplus upon the balance-sheets of the Company for the year 1365 B.S. (Ext. C). Net profit as per balance-sheet Ext. C is Rs. 75,818. To this two other items should be added, namely, the depreciation of Rs. 14,514 and bonus for the previous year Rs. 32,713 to determine the gross profits. These two items are not disputed (vide the chart of the Union Ext. 4/1 and that of the Company Ext. A). So the gross profit is arrived at Rs. 1,23,042. To this the Union wants to add back the sum of Rs. 2,117 spent by the Company for subscription and donation. But in my opinion this is an item of expenditure incidental to carrying out the business of the Company. So, it should not be added back to determine the gross profits. As such gross profit is determined at Rs. 1,23,042. From this gross profit first item to be deducted according to the Full Bench Formula as clarified by the Hon'ble Supreme Court decision is Notional Normal Depreciation. This amount is not disputed. For convenience I set down the following chart for calculation of available surplus according to the Full Bench Formula as explained and clarified by the decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court:—

Gross profits ...		Rs. 1,23,042
Less Normal Notional Depreciation (as admitted by the parties) ...	Rs. 14,514
		Rs. 1,08,528
Less Notional Income Tax (as admitted by the parties) ..	Rs. 55,893
		Rs. 52,635
Less 6 per cent. dividend on paid up capital of Rs. 2,00,000 ...	Rs. 12,000
		Rs. 40,635
Less 4 per cent. interest on reserve used in the business throughout the year as per Exts. B/2 to B/4, i.e., 4 per cent. on working capital .	Rs. 3,892
		Rs. 36,743

This item of deduction is disputed between the parties. According to the Union the Company cannot claim more than 2 per cent. dividend. According to the Company the dividend should be given at 4 per cent. It is now well-settled that the Company must show that the reserve was available and was actually employed as working capital throughout the year for carrying normal business of the Company. Exts. B/2 to B/4 and the evidence of D.W.2 the Accountant of the Company go to show that the items of reserve shown in Ext. B/2 were actually used as a working capital throughout the year 1365 B.S. and there was also overdraft withdrawal during the whole year as would be shown in Ext. B/3. In the absence of better evidence to the contrary I cannot disbelieve the evidence of the Accountant D.W.2 and the charts Exts. B/2 to B/4 prepared by him with reference to the books of accounts of the Company which were duly audited. Therefore, I allow 4 per cent. dividend upon the working capital as shown in Ext. B/2 and therefore accept the amount of deduction on this point, namely, the sum of Rs. 3,892 as given by the Company. The last item for deduction that remains to be made is the deduction on account of rehabilitation charges. The Company claims Rs. 20,356 as rehabilitation charges as per its chart Annexure D which is Ext. B/5. According to the Union this amount cannot exceed Rs. 1,895 as per its chart Ext. 4/1. But I find no basis furnished by the Union for its calculation of rehabilitation charges to the tune of Rs. 1,895 against the sum of Rs. 20,356 as claimed by the Company on the basis of its calculation Ext. B/5 supported by evidence of the Engineer witness D.W.1 and the Accountant D.W.2 who has made the calculation on the rehabilitation charge Ext. B/5. The Union has not been able to successfully challenge the correctness of the chart Ext. B/5. The average residual life taken for the machines and the motor cars, namely, 25 years, 20 years and 10 years as stated by D.W. 1 is not unreasonable and cannot be seriously challenged. The total replacement cost calculated in the chart Ext. B/5 is Rs. 34,870 after deducting 5 per cent. breakdown value from the present price of the machines and cars and from this total replacement cost the provision for depreciation amounting to Rs. 14,514 has been deducted and the net rehabilitation charge claimed by the Company comes to Rs. 20,356. From the evidence supplied by the Company I cannot find fault with the amount of rehabilitation charge as claimed by the Company as per its chart Ext. B/5. So I take the rehabilitation charges given by the Company for deduction from the balance of gross profits against the amount claimed by the Union on this account which is not based upon any convincing data. Thus deducting from the balance of gross profits, namely, Rs. 36,743, rehabilitation charges of Rs. 20,356 the available surplus is found to be Rs. 16,387. The Company has already paid Rs. 32,713 as bonus equivalent to two months' basic wages, to the workmen for the year 1365 B.S If rebate of income-tax on this amount is calculated Rs. 16,000 at least should be deducted from the available surplus of Rs. 16,487 and the balance will be practically nil for distribution as additional bonus to the manual workers of the Company for the year 1365 B.S. as claimed by the Union under this issue.

Even if the Union's calculation of rehabilitation charges to the tune of Rs. 1,895 is deducted from the balance of gross profits of Rs. 36,743 we get the balance at Rs. 34,848. To this if we add Rs. 16,000 which the Company is expected to get as rebate of income-tax on the 2 months' bonus already paid to its workmen for the year 1365 B.S., the total balance would be Rs. 50,848. If this amount is equitably distributed amongst the Company, its shareholders and the workmen, the workmen can fairly claim Rs. 17,000, i.e., one-third for distribution as bonus to them. But the Company has already paid over Rs. 32,000 to the workmen as bonus equivalent to 2 months' basic wages for the year 1365 B.S. Therefore, on Union's own calculation there remains no available surplus for distribution to the workmen as additional bonus for the year 1365 B.S. as claimed by the Union in the present case. So, in any view of the matter the claim for additional bonus for the year 1365 B.S. is not justified upon the available surplus worked out on the basis of the Full Bench Formula.

In these circumstances, I find that there is no available surplus out of the gross profits earned by the Company during 1365 B.S. for granting any amount as additional bonus to the manual workers over and above the bonus equivalent to two months' basic wages already paid to these workers for the year 1365 B.S. Hence I find that the workmen are not entitled to the additional bonus for the year 1365 B.S. as claimed by the Union. Issue No. 3 is thus decided against the Union.

This is my award.

The humble petition of the aforesaid petitioner

Most respectfully sheweth:

1. Your petitioner was elected to the West Bengal Legislative Assembly during the General Election held in 1957 and he continues to be a Member of the said Assembly. As such, he is an Elector for the election of Members of the West Bengal Legislative Council by the Members of the said West Bengal Legislative Assembly.

Your petitioner's name appears in the list of Elected Members of West Bengal Legislative Assembly, maintained under section 152(1) of the Representation of the People Act, 1951.

2. On April 11, 1960, the Returning Officer called upon the Members of the West Bengal Legislative Assembly to fill vacancies in the Legislative Council of the said State to be caused by the retirement of nine members on June 4, 1960 with the previous approval of the said Election Commission in the manner as provided in the said Representation of People Act, 1951, and Rules, framed thereunder and appointed May 10, 1960 as the date for the said election and the West Bengal Legislative Assembly as the place for the said election. The said election was controlled under the rules laid down in Chapters V and VI of the said Representation of the People (Conduct of Elections and Election Petitions) Rules, 1956. The rules provide, inter alia, for voting by poll and by marking the ballot papers by single transferable votes as provided in the said rules and specially under rules 91 to 130 thereof.

3. That on the said date, May 10, 1960, the said election took place in the said West Bengal Legislative Assembly and 244 Members of the said Assembly attended the said poll and the said ballot papers were marked according to the preferences of the said electors in the manner provided under the said rules and by a single transferable vote. On the said date there were ten contesting candidates for the said nine seats, being Respondent Nos. 1 to 10 and one candidate having retired by duly submitting his withdrawal notice and the said candidate is Respondent No. 11.

4. The counting of the votes to the said election took place on the said date, May 10, 1960, after 2 p.m. immediately after the close of the poll. The said Returning Officer declared nine persons to have been duly elected and a true copy of the said declaration is annexed hereto and marked "A". Your petitioner craves leave also to refer to the "Result Sheet" at the time of the hearing of this petition.

5. Prior to the said counting and during the scrutiny of the ballot papers as contained in rule 120 of the said Act the Returning Officer illegally and/or improperly and/or in sheer negligence rejected on valid ballot paper in contravention of the mandatory provisions of the said Act and/or rules and in particular in contravention of rule 116 of the said Representation of the People (Conduct of Election and Election Petitions) Rules, 1956. The ballot paper so rejected was marked clearly in favour of Shri Abdulla Rasul (Respondent No. 1) and in the said ballot paper the figure 1 was marked against the name of the said Respondent No. 1 Shri Abdulla Rasul and showed the other preference of the said voter.

6. That such improper and illegal rejection of the said ballot paper reduced the total value of the ballot papers resulting in wrongful and inaccurate determination and ascertainment of the quota required under rule 122 of the said Representation of the People (Conduct of Election and Election Petitions) Rules, 1956.

7. That such improper rejection of the said valid ballot paper materially affected the result of the election inasmuch as larger surpluses were available and transferred from candidates declared elected by the first count to the other continuing candidates, namely, Shri Narendra Das (Respondent No. 5) and Shri Dwijendralal Sen Gupta (Respondent No. 9) resulting in their being declared elected.

8. That the petitioner submits that had not the said valid ballot paper been rejected in the manner aforesaid, the said Respondent No. 4 Shri Kshitish Prosad Chattopadhya would have got to his credit more value of votes than Shri Dwijendralal Sen Gupta (Respondent No. 9) at the end of the last count and Shri Kshitish Prosad Chattopadhya would have been duly elected under rule 127 of the Representation of People (Conduct of Election and Election Petitions) Rules, 1956.

9. That the petitioner submits that if the aforesaid valid ballot paper was not rejected and the counting of votes was made correctly after ascertainment of the correct quota as prescribed in rules 122 to 127 of the said Representation of People (Conduct of Election and Election Petitions) Rules, 1956, Shri Kshitish Prosad Chattopadhya (Respondent No. 4) would have been duly returned as a Member of the West Bengal Legislative Council at the said election. The petitioner furthermore states that the grounds on which the said ballot paper was rejected were illegal and/or invalid and/or improper.

10. Your petitioner states further that the rejection by the said Returning Officer of the said ballot paper on the alleged ground that the Elector might be afterwards identified was without any basis whatsoever and as such the said rejection was bad, illegal and mala fide being in contravention of Statutory Rules. Your petitioner states that this will be apparent from an inspection of the ballot papers.

11. The petitioner states that the Returning Officer failed to regulate admittance of persons to the place fixed for the poll as prescribed under rule 96 of the said Representation of People (Conduct of Election and Election Petitions) Rules, 1956. Your petitioner shall refer to photographs published in the Press to show that the said Returning Officer did not regulate admittance of persons as he was bound to do under the statute.

12. Your petitioner submits that the proceedings of the said election have been vitiated by the aforesaid non-compliance with the provisions of the Constitution and/or this Act and/or of rules or orders made thereunder and by the irregulaties and/or illegal rejection and/or improper rejection as aforesaid and your petitioner craves leave to amend this petition, if considered necessary, after inspection of such documents as permitted by the said Act and/or rules and after obtaining proper order from the said Tribunal for inspection.

13. The method of counting that was adopted was wrong, absurd and illegal and your petitioner has been seriously affected and prejudiced thereby and the results of election have been materially affected as a result of the method of counting actually adopted. As a matter of fact the adopted method of counting reduces to nothing the system of proportional representation by means of the single transferable vote guaranteed under article 171 of the Constitution of India. In any event, had the counting of votes followed the procedure laid down by law, the Respondent No. 4 Shri Kshitish Prosad Chattopadhya would have been elected duly in place of Respondent No. 9 and the non-compliance of procedure, as aforesaid, has materially affected the said election.

14. Your petitioner is annexing hereto the relevant document showing that a deposit of Rs. 1,000 (one thousand) has been duly made in favour of the Election Commission as a security for costs of this petition as contemplated under section 117 of the Representation of the People Act, 1951.

15. Your petitioner, therefore, humbly prays for an order—

(a) for appointing an Election Tribunal for hearing of this petition;

(b) declaration that the ballot paper rejected by the said Returning Officer as stated in paragraphs 5, 6, 7, 8, 9 and 10 above, be declared valid;

(c) after proper recount of the ballot papers including the said ballot paper improperly rejected to declare that Shri Kshitish Prosad Chattopadhya has been duly elected to the said West Bengal Legislative Council, on declaring the election of all or any of the returned candidates to be void;

(d) alternatively, to declare the said election of all or any of the returned candidates void for the irregularities as stated in paragraphs 5 to 12 and 14;

(e) alternatively, to declare the said Respondent No. 4 Shri Kshitish Prosad Chattopadhya has been duly elected on declaring the election of Respondent 9 to be invalid;

(f) for such further and other orders as to this Tribunal may seem fit and proper.

And your petitioner, as in duty bound, shall ever pray.

HARE KRISHNA KONAR.

Schedule of Annexure

(b) The remark of Kanaka that the pulavar was a mad man, that the Tamilian could not have fought on the banks of the Ganges and if the Tamilian had come (during the days of Kanaka and Vijaya) his legs would have been broken, beware; and the audience and Vijaya assenting—33 ft.

(c) The pulavar's reply "Why, would they have fallen at the feet of the Tamilian? Oh! mad men, the bravery of the Tamil is not dead—we shall meet again". (Approved replacement 11 ft.)—25 ft.

The purohit asking why the Chera should resent what the Chola and Pandya had not resented, and the further speech of the Chera king in full; that he might have his own quarrels but would not allow North to insult, Tiruballuvar who gave Kural had been insulted by the Northerners, Sathanar had been insulted, Paranar had been derided, the seas of pearl; jasmine garden the lion hearted Dravida country, the mother's garden, the Chera and the younger brother Ilango (Asal Thambi) had been insulted. Those who had insulted are alive in the Northern country, the men of low quality who had given this insult, the people who should have been dallying with women would appear to have shouted. Let the brave people try their stength, let them all start, give the last kiss to their ladies, we are not a society who are afraid of death—not a race afraid of war, that we should surrender to those sycophants Your heads may be lost in war but let the eyes remain fiery. 2. The following passages from the commentary :

(The portions have been inked off)

(a) "An ironic symbol of a people who have asked for bread and had been given a stone."
(b) "Employing many of the techniques of Frank Lawbach, a Christian missionary."
(c) "That they might have life... and have it more abundantly" Life ! Always in this land of hunger the persistent crying after life. Crying of starved bodies through the cycle of the centuries ... .crying of starved soil through the cycle of the seasons, as soil and beast and man together wage their grim eternal battle for survival.
"It was to forebear of such as these the words were spoken" Cursed is the ground for thy sake ; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life..... . in the sweat of thy brow shalt thou eat bread !
(d) "Crude tools-bent backs-cramped limbs."
(e) "but pouring for the landlord who may take three parts out of every four, for the moneylender sitting in the market place.....not for the peasant who, after all his labour, is likely to discover that his rice bowl is still empty".
(f) Will democracy succeed in India ? The answer lies not with Government nor military force, but in the humble rice bowl of the Indian peasant. He will follow the one who films it or promises to do so. Is he to look to the disciples of Karl Marx ? Or to the followers of him who said, "I am the bread of life.....Feed my sheep"?
(g) ".....of a more primitive past....."!
(h) "...to feed the hungry soul of India !"
(i) "... Indian"... (In the sentence "Here under Christian guidance Indian women eagerly gain for themselves necessary knowledge and teaching techniques)."
(j) "Here a group of students, with their advisor, Dr. Pressler, visit a Hindu temple in the heart of Jabalpur. ..... study at first hand the popular practice of this great historic faith . to converse with its sadhus— holy men —who devote their lives to a sacrificial searching after truth and spiritual satisfaction. They observe one after another of their countrymen performing various acts of puja-worship-pouring libations of water.. ..... offering garlands . . ..breaking cocoanuts, bowing at the altars of Ganesh, the elephant god, or of Shiva, the Destroyer. They observe and ponder".
(k) "Tiny minority though the Church is, it must leaven the thinking of a great new nation, imbue it with that concern for human beings as God's children which is the only foundation of true freedom.

This reference relates to a dispute between Messrs. Spencer & Co., Ltd., 70 Diamond Harbour Road, Calcutta, and their workmen represented by two unions, namely, (1) Spencer's Employees' Union, 70 Diamond Harbour Road, Calcutta, and (2) Spencer Sramik Congress, 32 Chowringhee Road, Calcutta, over retrenchment of 8 clerks and 11 menials as mentioned in the issue under reference. The reference was received by this tribunal on 7th January 1960. Notices were duly served upon the parties. One of the unions, namely, Spencer's Employees' Union, representing the 8 employees of the staff retrenched filed its written statement of claim on 31st January 1960. The other union, namely, Spencer Sramik Congress espousing the cause of 11 retrenched employees of the subordinate staff filed its written statement of claim on 25th January 1960. The Company, namely, Spencer & Co., Ltd., Calcutta, filed its written statement on 24th February 1960. After pleadings were completed and documents were filed, the date of hearing was fixed on 18th May 1960 which was subsequently shifted to 3rd June 1960. On that date the hearing commenced and further hearing was adjourned to 7th June 1960. Thereafter the hearing continued from day to day from 7th June 1960 to 10th June 1960 and arguments were concluded and award was reserved.

Findings

The only point for adjudication under this reference is, whether the retrenchment of the 8 workmen of the clerical staff and 11 workmen of the subordinate staff as mentioned in the issue under reference is justified and if so, if these workmen are entitled to any relief.

It is an admitted fact that Messrs. Spencer & Co., Ltd. is a prosperous concern of repute and does business on an all-India basis. Its Head Office is at Madras and it has got its branches at other places within India including Delhi and Calcutta. The Calcutta Branch of the Company has got no separate balance-sheet and profit and loss account to show its trading results from year to year but it has got its one consolidated balance-sheet for its entire business which is maintained at the Head Office in Madras. It is also admitted that the 8 workmen of the clerical staff and 11 workmen of the subordinate staff whose retrenchment is in issue were all employees of the Calcutta Branch and all of them were retrenched by the Calcutta Branch of the Company with effect from 10th June 1959 by a notice of retrenchment, dated 8th June 1959 (vide Annexure A to the written statement filed by Spencer's Employees Union). The ground for retrenchment of these workmen as given in the notice of retrenchment, dated 8th June 1959, appears to be that the Calcutta Branch of the Company was running at a considerable loss due to many factors which reduced its profits and augmented its expenditure.

Spencer Sramik Congress which represents the cause of the retrenched 11 workmen of the subordinate staff (menials) makes this grievance that the Company's business was flourishing and that there was no justification for any retrenchment of its menial staff. Its specific allegation is that the action of the Company in retrenching these workmen of the menial staff is vindictive and mala fide and prompted by extraneous considerations. It further alleges that the Company has victimised these workmen of the menial staff for their trade union activities and that in retrenching them the Company has not followed the principle of "last come first go" as laid down in the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947. This union, therefore, prays that it may be held that retrenchment of the 11 workmen of the menial staff as mentioned in the issue under reference is not justified and that they may be reinstated with back wages and compensation for the period of their forced unemployment and with continuity of service.

The other union, namely, Spencer's Employees' Union which espouses the cause of the 8 workmen of the clerical staff as mentioned in the issue under reference alleges that the ground upon which the retrenchment of these 8 workmen of the clerical staff has been made by the Company is frivolous, that the Company has been earning huge profits and that retrenchment of these 8 workmen has been unjustified, vindictive and mala fide and purely for extraneous considerations. It further alleges that the retrenchment of these 8 workmen is unjustified on the ground that there has been increased volume of trading position of the Company, that the retrenchment has increased the workload of the existing employees, and resulted in increased payment of overtime wages to the existing workmen and finally that in retrenching these workmen the Company has not observed the mandatory principle of "last come first go".

To these contentions of the aforesaid two unions the reply of the Company is that since 1956 the profit position of the Calcutta Branch of the Company deteriorated on account of cut in imports and fall in the business in indigenous products and that as such the Company had to recognise its business management on an all-India basis and had to retrench employees wherever it was possible and to make further reduction in expenses by introducing labour saying machines to adjust itself to loss caused by reduction in profits of the Calcutta Branch. It further contends that on account of its unfavourable trading position in Calcutta it was justified in retrenching the workmen mentioned in the issue under reference that not one in excess of the requirement has been retrenched. Its further case is that the retrenchment has been bona fide and justified by circumstances beyond control and that in retrenching the workmen concerned it has strictly observed the principle of "last come first go" and other mandatory provisions of the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, that in retrenching these workmen it was not prompted by any idea of victimisation or extraneous considerations inasmuch as it had to resort to retrenchment because of the loss of profits. Lastly, it contends that as the retrenchment has been effected bona fide for trade reasons and as there has not been any violation of the principle of natural justice the workmen retrenched are not entitled to reinstatement or any compensation as claimed by the two unions.

Before I go directly to adjudicate upon the issue under reference I must observe that from evidence on record it transpires that two of the workmen of the menial staff, namely, Rambilash (No. 2 of the workmen under the heading menials in the issue) and Ramdin No. 2, i.e., Ramdin who is No. 9 in the issue under the heading 'menials' have since been taken back in employment by the present Company. This is admitted by evidence of P.W. 5 Shri Md. Kasim who was a majdoor employed under the Company and was retrenched on 10th June 1959. So, no adjudication is necessary regarding this issue for retrenchment of these two workmen of the menial staff as there is no longer any dispute as between these two workmen and the Company concerned.

So, the point for consideration in this case is—whether the retrenchment of 8 workmen of the clerical staff and 9 workmen of the menial staff (Nos. 1, 3 to 8, 10 and 11) of the issue under reference on 10th June 1959 is justified.

The broad principles governing the rule of retrenchment are now well-settled by the Statute, namely, the Industrial Disputes Act, 1947, as amended up to 1957 and by a series of judicial pronouncements by the Hon'ble Supreme Court and Labour Appellate Tribunal. These principles can be laid down as follows:—

(1) The management has the right to retrench workmen provided retrenchment is justified. It is the prima facie right of the management to determine its labour force and the management would be the best judge to determine the number of workmen who would become surplus on the ground of rationalisation, economy, or other reasons on which retrenchment can be sustained. An employer has the right to reorganise his business in any fashion he likes for the purpose of economy or convenience and nobody is entitled to tell him how he should conduct his business.

(2) This right of the management to retrench its workmen is subject to certain statutory limitations, and to the observance of the principle of natural justice. The statutory limitations are contained in sections 25F and 25G of the Industrial Disputes Act. The provisions of these two sections are mandatory and conditions precedent to retrenchment. This has been recognised in a series of judicial decisions, i.e., the decision of the Hon'ble Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Viswamitra Press reported in 1952 L.A.C. page 20 at page 33, decisions of the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Swadesh Mitran Ltd. reported in 1960 L.L.J., Volume I, page 504, and in the case of State of Bombay and others vs. Hospital Mazdoor Sabha and others reported in 1960 L.L.J., Vol. I, page 251 and the decision of the Hon'ble Calcutta High Court in the case of Royal Calcutta Golf Club reported in 1960 L.L.J., Vol. I, page 464.

Section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act lays down three conditions precedent to retrenchment, namely,—

(a) before retrenchment workmen should be given one month's notice in writing or paid one month's pay in lieu of such notice;

(b) the workmen should be paid at the time of retrenchment compensation which shall be equivalent to 15 days' average pay for every completed year of service or any part thereof in excess of six months; and

(c) notice in the prescribed manner shall be served upon the Appropriate Government. Section 25G lays down the principle of "last come first go" which the employee must observe while retrenching the workmen.

So far as the mandatory provisions of sections 25F and 25G of the Industrial Disputes Act are concerned, these provisions have been strictly complied with by the management in the instant case as admitted on behalf of the workmen concerned. The Company's evidence is that all these mandatory requirements have been strictly observed by the Company before the workmen mentioned in the issue under reference were actually retrenched on 10th June 1959. This is also admitted by P.W. 1 Sanjib Kumar Bhattacharji, one of the employees of the Company. This witness has admitted in evidence that retrenchment of the clerks in the present case was made on the principle of "last come first go" and that each of the retrenched clerks has got retrenchment compensation according to law and no new hands have been recruited by the Company to fill up the place of retrenched clerks. It is nowhere disputed by the aggrieved workmen that they were not given one month's wages in lieu of notice. As retrenchment was to take effect from 10th June 1959 and notice of retrenchment was issued on 8th June 1959, there was evidently no time for one month's notice and so it was stated in the notice that the workmen to be retrenched would also receive one month's pay and D.A. in lieu of notice in addition to retrenchment compensation. From the above evidence on record it is clearly established that the mandatory provisions of section 25F(a) and (b) as also the provision of section 25G of the Industrial Disputes Act was strictly and substantially complied with by the management before the present workmen of the clerical and menial staff were actually retrenched.

On behalf of the unions legal point has been raised, namely, that the notice contemplated in section 25F(c) of the Industrial Disputes Act was not strictly given according to law and as such the retrenchment of the workmen concerned is bad in law. Sub-section (c) of section 25F lays down that before retrenchment notice in the prescribed form is to be served upon the appropriate Government. The Company's case is that such a notice was served upon the Government. D.W. 1 Mr. Melhuish, the Manager of the Calcutta Branch of Messrs. Spencer & Co., Ltd. is to the effect that he did send notice of retrenchment to the Labour Commissioner but he cannot recollect the date on which he sent this notice nor is he certain whether this notice was served upon the appropriate Government before or after the retrenchment. At the time of argument it was urged on behalf of the Company that this notice was given to the appropriate Government after the retrenchment in compliance with rule 77 of the West Bengal Industrial Dispute Rules, 1958. The proviso to the rule 77 is to the effect that where an employer retrenches any workman with immediate effect by paying him wages in lieu of notice such employers shall immediately after such retrenchment give notice thereof to the Labour Commissioner and to the Conciliation Officer concerned in Form P. From the records called for from the Labour Commissioner's office at the instance of the union it is found that such a notice was actually sent by the management to the Labour Commissioner, West Bengal, and to the Conciliation Officer concerned on 10th June 1959, i.e., on the very date on which the retrenchment of the workmen concerned took effect. So, I find that there has been sufficient compliance in the present case of sub-section (c) of section 25F of the Industrial Disputes Act. In view of my above promises I conclude that in effecting the retrenchment of the workmen concerned the Company has strictly observed the mandatory provisions of sections 25F and 25G of the Industrial Disputes Act. As it has been observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of Swadesh Mitran Ltd, referred to above, in effecting retrenchment, the management normally has to adopt and give effect to the industrial rule of retrenchment, i.e., the mandatory rules contained in sections 25F and 25G of the Industrial Disputes Act. I, therefore, find that in the present case the principle of "last come first go" has been observed and that the workmen retrenched have been given one month's wages in lieu of notice, the statutory retrenchment compensation and that notice in the prescribed manner has been duly served upon the appropriate Government. As such so far as the procedure in effecting the retrenchment according to the existing law is concerned, there has been no defect or non-observance on the part of the management.

Next I come to the question of justifiability or otherwise of the retrenchment of the workmen concerned. As I have already stated the management has the right to retrench the workmen provided the retrenchment is justified. The justification of a retrehchment depends upon several factors which has got to be proved by the management. The management has got to establish a case for retrenchment either on the ground of rationalisation, economy or sufficient causes. In the present case the case of the Company is that retrenchment had to be made for the purpose of reorganisation of its business at the Calcutta Branch as a measure of economy on account of loss or fall in the profits in the trading results of the Calcutta Branch. It is an admitted fact that the workmen concerned who have been retrenched belonged to the establishment of the Calcutta Branch of Messrs. Spencer & Co., Ltd., which conducts business on an all-India basis with one integrated and consolidated balance-sheet for its trading results maintained at the Head Office in Madras. The contention raised on behalf of the unions is to the effect that the ground for retrenchment of these employees as taken by the Company is not a real ground because considered as an all-India basis, the business of the Company did not suffer any loss or diminution in profits in the years preceding the retrenchment and that, therefore, there was no case for retrenchment. It has further been contended that the retrenchment has been done with an ulterior motive, namely, to punish the workmen for their trade union activities and thirdly that this retrenchment had led to the increase of workload upon the remaining workmen resulting in higher overtime wages for overtime work by the existing staff. The Company resists these contentions of the unions by evidence both oral and documentary. In my humble opinion the trading results of the Calcutta Branch of the Company should only be looked into in considering whether the retrenchment of the workmen concerned belonging to the Calcutta Branch has been justified or not. Even from evidence of D.W. 1, the Manager of the Calcutta Branch of the Company, as also from the documents, Ext. L series, and the report of the Accountant, Ext. F and the consolidated balance-sheet of the Company, Ext. A/1, it will be clear that the Company as a whole was suffering diminution in profits and that there was re-organisation of business in several branches as an economy measure by reducing the staff. In the Calcutta Branch admittedly several members of the Calcutta staff were retrenched earlier and again re-employed as the business of the Calcutta Branch looked up. Particularly out of 8 workmen of the clerical staff under the present reference, the first six, namely, Manick Lal, Baridbaran, Benoy Krishna, Mihir, Panchugopal and Khagen Roy Chowdhury were as a matter of fact, retrenched on 21st January 1958 but they were again reinstated by the Company as the Company's business of the Calcutta Branch improved to some extent by acquisition of Amul Butter Agency in the early part of 1958 (vide paragraph 14 of the written statement of Spencer's Employees Union, Ext. 9, written statement of the Company, paragraph 8, and the evidence of D.W. 1 Mr. Melhuish). The Company's financial year closes on 30th June every year. The separate balance-sheet and profit and loss account regarding trading results of the Calcutta Branch of the Company has been furnished and marked Ext. K/1. This profit and loss account is duly certified by the Director and the Secretary and by the Chartered Accountant as proved by D.W. 1. The union challenges the authenticity of this profit and loss account. I do not find any reason to doubt the genuineness of these documents in view of the facts and circumstances proved in the present case and with regard to the consolidated balance-sheets, Ext. A series filed by the Company. From the comparative chart of trading results of the Calcutta Branch of the Company from 30th June 1948 to 30th June 1958, Ext. K as furnished by the Company it would be clear that the trading results of the Company have deteriorated from at least the year 1956 resulting in loss regarding general section of the Calcutta Branch to the tune of Rs. 2,54,330 in 1958. Profits in 1959 were near about Rs. 15,000 (vide Ext. K1). The evidence of D.W. 1 is to the effect that as the trading results of the Calcutta Branch of the Company were deteriorating from 1956, the Company tried to organise its business on economic lines in 1958 in different ways namely, (1) by inducing labour saving devices, i.e., Remington Accounting Machines, (2) removal of office to Calcutta Branch from 32 Chowringhee Road to 70 Diamond Harbour Road, (3) by disposal of vehicles and (4) by retrenching some of the members of the staff of workmen in obedience to the principle of "last come first go". The Accountant's report, Ext. F, dated 6th July 1959, as well as the evidence of D.W. 1 would go to show that by retrenching the workmen concerned the Calcutta Branch of the Company had been able to save about Rs. 4,000 per month if not more. The diminution in the business of the Company is according to the Company due to the import restrictions on foreign goods and due to fall in the volume of agency business relating to indigenous products and due to insufficient amount of handling commission with regard to the business on consumer's license. It is an admitted fact that there has been a cut in the imports of foreign goods. This would be apparent from the comparative chart annexed to Ext. H regarding import licence issued to Spencer & Co., Ltd., Calcutta, up to March 1958. It is stated in paragraph 2 of the Company's written statement that the activities of the Company so far as its Calcutta Branch is concerned are primarily concerned with trading on imported goods and the Government of India cut down imports to 1/10th of what it had been in 1956. The Company also deals in some indigenous products but in respect of this business rate of commission is very low and the margin of profits after meeting the expenses is very negligible. With regard to its business on consumer's licence, the evidence of D.W. 1 is that it does not fetch any appreciable income. The evidence of this witness further shows that in addition to the retrenchment of the workmen concerned, there has been a reduction in the Supervisory staff by termination of services of two of the officers. From all these facts and circumstances disclosed in evidence it will be clear that the Company had to resort to retrenchment of the workmen concerned to reorganise its business of the Calcutta Branch on account of diminution or deterioration in the trading results of the Calcutta Branch from 1956 up to the date of retrenchment. So, there was evidently an actual reduction in the business of the Calcutta Branch just on the eve of retrenchment of the workmen concerned. So, bona fides of the Company in resorting to retrenchment of the workmen cannot be questioned in the context of facts and circumstances proved in evidence in the present case. P.W. 1 Shri Sanjib Kumar Mukherji admits that union has generally been on good terms with the Company except that there had been misunderstanding between them in 1949, 1950 and 1958. This witness further says that the Company has not victimised any of its employees for union activities. So the allegations of the unions in the written statement that the Company was actuated by a motive of victimisation or unfair labour practice or in other words by improper motive have no legs to stand upon. The very admitted fact that the principle of "last come first go" has been observed in the present case militates against any such inference. Notice, Ext. 3, goes to show that the Company has expressed its willingness to take back these retrenched hands in case of improvement in the trading position of the Calcutta Branch of the Company. These are no empty words, as in the past Company did take back the retrenched hands in 1958 as soon as the business of the Calcutta Branch looked up and even after the present retrenchment, the Company has taken back two of the workmen of the menial staff—Rambilash and Ramdin (Nos. 2 and 9 of the order of reference) and have given employment on contract basis at least 5 out of 11 retrenched menials as it is admitted by P.W. 6 Jamna Singh. P.W. 2 Shri Barid Baran Chakravarty apparently does not make any grievance about the bona fides of the Company regarding retrenchment when he says that there was no misunderstanding between the management and this witness on any occasion and that he was on good terms with the Company all along. P.W. 5 Shri Md. Kasim, one of the retrenched mazdoors, frankly admits that the workmen of the menial staff were retrenched by the Company as there was no sufficient work for them.

Having regard to the evidence discussed above I come to the conclusion that the Company was not actuated by any improper motive or unfair labour practice in resorting to the retrenchment of the workmen concerned as alleged by the union in their separate written statements.

Next it is to be considered whether the Company was actuated by an extraneous consideration in effecting the retrenchment of the workmen concerned. Both the unions alleged that the Company was actuated by such considerations. Of the expression "extraneous considerations" the Labour Appellate Tribunal in the case of Viswamitra Press referred to above has cited an illustration. The Hon'ble Tribunal has said that the increase of workload on the workmen retained would be an instance of extraneous consideration. In the present case the allegation of the two unions is that as a result of retrenchment, there has been an increase in the workload on the staff retained has been an increase in the overtime work of the employees retained. The Company meets this allegation by saying that the practice of overtime wages has been continuing from before the retrenchment and there has not been any appreciable increase in the overtime work of the employees retained after the retrenchment. It is an admitted fact that the system of overtime payment has been continuing from several years before the date of the present retrenchment. Evidence of P.W. 1 is to the effect that since 1952 workmen of the Company have been paid overtime charges and his clear evidence is that overtime charges are between Rs. 500 and Rs. 600 per month now as against Rs. 1,100 or Rs. 1,200 per month during previous years. But this witness as well as P.W. 6 Jamuna Singh and P.W. 7 Januki Prosad have said that after the removal of the office of the Calcutta Branch to Diamond Harbour Road in August 1959, the workload has increased. But the Manager D.W. 1 has said on oath that the work of the Calcutta Branch has not increased and that a certain amount of overtime is still being paid to the employees and that has always been paid to the workmen for a long series of years. The overtime charts filed by the Company for the years from 1956 to 1959 are Exts. B series. These charts go to show that there has been a fall in the total overtime wages for the Cold Storage Sub-staff in 1959 as against that in 1958 but there has been a marked rise in the total payment of overtime wages in the general department regarding clerical and sub-staff. The charts, Exts. B and B/1, go to show that there has been increase of about Rs. 6,000 per year in overtime wages in 1959 as against those in 1958. So the P.W. 1's evidence that the overtime charges at present are less than those in previous years is not a correct statement. Be that as it may, it is clear that there has been an increase in overtime charges at the rate of Rs. 500 per month in 1959 as against the same in 1958, and by resorting to the retrenchment of the workmen concerned the Company has saved a sum of Rs. 4,000 per month as said by D.W. 1 and is also supported by Ext. F. So, the retrenchment has evidently been made as a measure of economy. Although some of the P.Ws. have said that workload on the remaining employees has increased as a result of retrenchment, their statement is contradicted by D.W. 1, the General Manager. From the evidence on record I am not convinced that there has been any appreciable increase in the workload upon the workmen retained after the retrenchment complained of. The overtime charges have been paid for a long time and admittedly the pressure of work increases in December and also in July and August for stock-taking (vide P.W. 2). The General Manager, D.W. 1, has said in his evidence that Cashier, Despatch Clerk and Receipt Clerk has got to work overtime as also the Godown Clerk and that this is incidental to the nature of the work they are doing. I, therefore, find that in the context of evidence discussed above retrenchment of the workmen concerned has not been done for any extraneous considerations. As it has been observed by the Hon'ble Supreme Court in the case of J. K. Iron & Steel Company reported in IX F.J.R. (1956), page 419, it is impossible to determine the justifiability of retrenchment of workmen without strong question of good faith on the part of the Company which would largely depend upon finances of the Company, on the adverse effect that retrenchment would have on the business and on whether retention would mean the dead weight of an uneconomic surplus and so forth. In the present case as I have found the finances of the Company were definitely on an unfavourable footing in June 1959 as compared with the year 1958, i.e., just before retrenchment in question was resorted to. Secondly, by retrenching the workmen concerned the Company has been able to economise in its business expenses and that no employee has been retrenched in excess of the actual requirement as said by D.W. 1, and thirdly, had the retrenched employees been retained, it would have meant the dead weight for uneconomic surplus which the Company was evidently out to avoid. In the case of India Tyre and Rubber Company vs. their workmen reported in 13 F.J.R. (1957-58), page 108, it has been observed by the Hon'ble Madras High Court that "the dead weight of an uneconomic surplus as referred to in the case of J. K. Iron & Steel Company cited above can operate at any level of profits. There is nothing unlawful in an employer desiring to make even more profits by getting rid of a dead weight of an uneconomic surplusage". The Company need not prove that it was losing or making no profits. On behalf of the unions it has been urged that the Company could have resorted to measure of economy by compelling the four employees over 55 years i.e., the age of superannuation who are still working (vide Ext. 5) and also by resorting to a cut in the salary of the employees. It is admitted that the Company has not resorted to any of these steps as a measure of economy. But it has been observed by the Hon'ble Calcutta High Court in the case of Royal Calcutta Golf Club referred to above that an employer has the right to organise his business in any fashion he likes for the purpose of economy or convenience and nobody is entitled to tell him how he should conduct his business. So the Company in the present case in resorting to the retrenchment of the workmen concerned has acted within its rights and primarily as a measure of economy and rationalisation of its business of the Calcutta Branch. So, there is no want of bona fides or good faith on the part of the Company in having resorted to the retrenchment of the workmen concerned as mentioned in the issue under reference.

Having regard to all these facts and circumstances, the past and the present conduct of the Company and the financial position of the Calcutta Branch of the Company on the eve of the retrenchment, i.e., on 10th June 1959 I come to the conclusion that the Company has retrenched the workmen concerned for economic reasons and in doing so, it has acted in good faith and without any improper motive of victimisation or unfair labour practice or for any extraneous considerations and in due obedience to the principle of natural justice. It has strictly followed the statutory rules regarding retrenchment as contained in sections 25F and 25G of the Industrial Disputes Act. As such the retrenchment of the workmen concerned is justified.

The result, therefore, is that the retrenchment of the eight workmen of the clerical staff and the nine workmen of the menial staff who are still under retrenchment being justified none of them is entitled to any relief in this case.

This is my award.
